

ABSTRACT

An article such as a locket (sole insert, patch or other device to hold nutrients on the body), which incorporates at least one nutrient, which is capable of emitting electromagnetic waves that stimulate proprioceptive cones throughout the body, resulting in a therapeutic effect for the treatment and/or the prevention of problems connected to stratural equilibrium.